A GUIDE TO THE GILBERT COPE COLLECTION

About the project:

In 1999, the Chester County Historical Society (CCHS) was awarded a conservation support grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) to preserve the Gilbert Cope Collection of glass plate negatives. The IMLS is a federal agency that fosters innovation, leadership and a lifetime of learning. This Conservation Program Support grant enabled the fragile glass plate negatives to be copied to stable film according to archival standards, preserving their valuable image information and delicate beauty.

The Chicago Albumen Works of Housatonic, Massachusetts made master interpositives for long-term storage, duplicate negatives for active use and reference prints for public use, for each of the 2446 negatives. The master interpositives are stored off-site in the climate-controlled environment at National Underground Storage, Boyers Pennsylvania in order to maximize the life of the interpositives. CCHS volunteers mounted the reference prints in archival quality albums for easy viewing by the public.

Accompanying the collection is an annotated transcription of Cope's inventory listing of all his negatives and a complete index. Researchers can search for details in photographs using personal names, geographic locations and subject headings from the Thesaurus for Graphic Materials.

Acknowledgements

The Chester County Historical Society wants to acknowledge the hundreds of hours of work put in by volunteers over the years preparing this collection for use. In 1987 the work began with volunteer Oscar Stramm and Temple University Intern Sabra Peratin carefully cleaning and properly housing the glass plate negatives. Constance Plunkett and Linda Thomas meticulously transcribed Gilbert Cope's original inventory on the computer. Dick Heald assisted in packing the collection for shipping to Massachusetts. Ronald L. Maurer, Sr. assisted in the transportation of the collection. Lois Bassett and Dick Heald put together the albums for public reference. Without the help of these devoted volunteers this project would not have been possible.

Purpose of this guide

This guide was compiled to give the user quick access to the Gilbert Cope Collection, and as accurate as possible identifications for each photograph. The Cope collection is an exceptional collection in two ways: for the high quality of each photographic image, and also the care the photographer used to describe and date each view. So often photographer's inventory records were destroyed over time or were never faithfully maintained in the first place. The inventory in this guide is a transcription of Cope's own negative inventory with annotations.

Arrangement

This collection has been maintained in its original order by the numbering system established by Gilbert Cope. This gives the greatest access to a wide variety of users:

1. The chronological arrangement allows the student of photography to understand how Gilbert Cope the photographer grew in his craft and vision. Cope worked with a view camera that accepted 5 x 8 inch glass plates and had a revolving back that allowed him to use 4 x 5 inch plates or to make two 4 x 5 images on one 5 x 8 plate. He used this equipment for all of his landscape and portrait work. Later in his career, Cope used 8 x 10 plates to copy documents.
2. It gives the historian a context for understanding Cope's work. Cope photographs his family, friends, schools, and institutions with which he is connected. It is a kind of diary that charts his travels and interests. He often visits relatives in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, and he makes two trips to England to copy genealogical records in 1905 & 1907.
3. Subject access is readily obtained through the prepared index for those seeking a specific item.

Holdings

The Chester County Historical Society houses a large number of Cope's original glass plate negatives and photographic prints. Please note that CCHS did not receive all of Cope's negatives, nor his manuscript collection. Researchers seeking manuscripts should contact the Historical Society of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia.

This Guide compiles the Society's holdings so that the user can readily request any available image. Cope's entire inventory listing has been carefully transcribed, even though CCHS does not have all items listed. Only images in the CCHS collection have been indexed. Cope's original prints are also available to the library patron.

Annotations

Annotations have been added to this guide to explain Cope's abbreviations and to further identify people and locate places in the county. The following information has been included in the annotations: locations of properties, identification of people, relationship notes, references, other collections and publications that contain Cope's photographs. The sources that have been used for the annotations are in the bibliography that follows and can be found in the Society's library. Properties have been identified by township and referenced on Breou's Official Series of Farm Maps, Chester County, Pennsylvania, 1883 when possible. Street addresses are not usually used since they are not available for country houses.

Other collections that contain Gilbert Cope's photographs have been noted in the annotations to give the user as complete access to Cope's photographs as possible. These collections are listed in the introduction to this guide.

The patron should refer to the family trees for the Cope and Garrett families before using this guide. Close ties with his extended family were important to Cope. The majority of the people that Cope photographed were in some way related to him, as can be seen in the numerous relationship notes in the annotations that cite sisters and brothers, nieces and nephews, etc.

Publications

As a historian and genealogist, Gilbert Cope found photography a useful way of gathering information. In the period before photocopy machines were available, photographs of documents, such as deeds and marriage certificates, provided a facsimile more accurate than copying or tracing them by hand. As Cope explored photography he soon discovered that a genealogy was not just a written record, it could be a visual one as well. In Cope's later publications, he begins to use his own photographs of families, homesteads and documents, as illustrations. His photographs have appeared in the following publications which have been noted in the annotations. These include: Genealogy of the Baily Family of Bromham, Wiltshire, England,...., The Genealogy of the Smedley Family, Bulletin of the Chester County Historical Society, Family Record of the Sharpless Family, Two-hundred and Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Concord Monthly Meeting of Friends, The Brinton Genealogy, and Genealogy of the Descendants of John Kirk. Only one of his photographs appears in the Family Record of the Sharpless Family, and it is possible that #1177 Willistown Friends' Meeting, reproduced on page 200, is also a Cope photograph. Cope took many photographs of West Chester to illustrate the Centennial Souvenir, however, since the original glass plates are not in the Society's collection, these images could not be verified, thus are not listed in the annotations. Keep West Chester's Centennial in mind when you look at the subjects that Cope photographed in July and August, 1899.

Exhibits

Some of Cope's photographs were exhibited at the Pennsylvania Exposition at Jamestown, Virginia in 1907. These items are recorded on a separate page in this introduction.

Conclusion

If you have information on a person or property pictured in the Gilbert Cope Collection that could be helpful please contact the photo archivist. The photo collection guides are constantly updated as information becomes available.
