History

Background Note on the West Chester Camera Club

The West Chester Camera Club began in 1938 as a meeting between a dozen men in a Church Street garage. Around the same time, a similar club was meeting in the Coatesville fire station. The Coatesville club disbanded at the onset of World War II, but the West Chester Camera Club continued during and after the war. Since 1982, the club has been known as the Chester County Camera Club and is associated with both the Photographic Society of America and the Delaware Valley Council of Camera Clubs.¹ From September through October of 1949, Camera Club President, Ned Goode, and publicity Co-Manager, Melvin Gurtizen, photographed many of the events leading up to and during West Chester's Sesquicentennial.

Background Note on Ned Goode

Edmund Whitely "Ned" Goode (1921 – 1986), born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and served in the United States Army's Air Force during World War II. After the war, Goode worked as a photographer for Curtain Publishing Company and The Saturday Evening Post before coming to the Chester County area. In the 1950s through the 1960s, Goode operated a business specializing in commercial and industrial photography, which was located in West Chester, Pennsylvania. Goode died in Warsaw, Missouri at the age of 65.

Background Note on Melvin Gurtizen

Melvin “Shorty” Gurtizen (1923 – 2000) was a lifelong Chester County resident. While stationed at Fort Meade, Maryland, he married Shirley M. Walleigh in 1951. The couple had three children: Nancy (1952 -), Ruth Anne (1954 -), and Charles (1955 -). In addition to photographing for the Daily Local News, Gurtizen operated photography studios on Gay Street and at the intersection of Church and Chestnut streets in West Chester, Pennsylvania. Gurtizen died in West Chester at the age of 76.

Background Note on West Chester Sesquicentennial

The West Chester Sesquicentennial was a celebration from September 27 through October 2, 1949 that marked the borough’s 150th anniversary of incorporation. The first meeting that discussed plans for the celebration occurred on the evening of August 12, 1948. Burgess Ashton B.T. Smith was selected as chairperson for all event committees. Over the course of the next year, plans were developed for an eight day schedule of events that began on September 25, 1949 with the West Chester Exchange Club’s Model Airplane Meet at the West Chester Airport and concluded with a nondenominational religious service at the Phillips Memorial Auditorium on the night of October 2, 1949. The West Chester Sesquicentennial’s full schedule of events, newspaper clippings from The Daily Local, parade routes, and some “Sesqui” promotional items are available in John J. Darlington’s Day by Day History of West Chester’s 1949 Sesquicentennial 1799 – 1949: Sept 27 – Oct. 2.

Collection Scope and Content Note

This collection contains eight boxes of black and white, gelatin silver photographic prints that document many of the events that occurred before and during the West Chester Sesquicentennial. The contents of this collection span from September 21, 1949 through October 2, 1949 and were created by photographers Ned Goode and Melvin Gurtizen, who were members of the West Chester Camera Club, now known as the Chester County Camera Club. This collection’s photographs measure 8” x 10” (203.2mm x 254mm) and 5” x 7” (127mm x 177.8mm). Any italicized words or phrases in the descriptions are those of the guide’s author, not the creators.
